1. Hospice and palliative care treatment for adults can be slightly adjusted to accommodate children.

2. Hospice and palliative care is only for those who have cancer.

3. Hospice and palliative care is only appropriate at the end of life.

4. Children’s hospice and palliative care services can only be provided in well-resourced settings.

5. Accessing hospice and palliative care means that you are giving up hope.

6. Working in a children’s hospice or palliative care services is sad and depressing.

7. It is not appropriate to give children opioid medications to treat their pain.

8. Children and adolescents should not be burdened with the responsibility of helping to make decisions about their various treatment options.

9. Children should always be protected from the knowledge that they are dying.

10. Children don’t want to talk about their death and what matters to them.

Learn the FACTS at www.icpcn.org